WASHINGTON COURTS

COURT INTERPRETER PROGRAM

SUPREME COURT INTERPRETER COMMISSION

Headline Sponsor

The mission of the Interpreter Commission is to ensure equal access to justice and to support the courts in providing access to court services and programs for all individuals regardless of their ability to communicate in the spoken English language. The Interpreter Commission serves as a policy making and advisory body to the Washington Courts, including the Administrative Office of the Courts (AOC), concerning court interpreters and language assistance in general. The Commission sets policy for the courts and the Court Interpreter Program, which is responsible for interpreter certification, registration, testing, continuing education, training, and discipline.
